Four men who form a neighborhood watch group as a way to get out of their day-to-day family routines find themselves defending the Earth from an alien invasion. In Glenview, Ohio, Evan is the manager of the Costco department store and married to Abby. When the Costco night watchman, Antonio Guzman, is mysteriously murdered, Evan organizes The Neighborhood Watch, a watch team with his suburban neighbors Bob, Franklin and Jamaricus to protect the neighborhood and find the killer of Antonio. Soon they discover that the murderer is an alien that is preparing to invade Earth, and they become the last hope of mankind on Earth. Jonah Hill gets a ton of screen time and is really great, but Richard Ayoade is just a no fail guy to me. This movie would have been worth the watch without him but with him in it I am going to give it another watch. Also catch him in "The IT crowd," or the brilliant film he directed "Submarine." Yeah I am a fanboy. But the plot isn't super complex but it is pleasant and keeps the jokes rolling and that is what's important for a comedy. NOT FOR KIDS! Saw some kids in the screening, would't allow my kids to see it, but hey not my kids not my responsibility. This movie is best suited for the general 17-35 crowd that won't mind a little potty humor here and there and by "here and there" i mean everywhere. The Watch stars a big name cast - Ben Stiller as Evan, Vince Vaughn as Bob, Jonah Hill as Franklin and finally Richard Ayoade as Jamaricus. It is about a group of 4 guys who create a neighborhood watch because of a recent killing in their town. But when they find the killer they must overcome an alien force to save Earth from an alien invasion.

Good concept, great actors and Seth Rogen involved in the screenplay. What could possibly be bad about it? Well, a few things. First off, Ben Stiller isn't funny anymore. The script felt lazily written, and it seemed like they thought - "Oh well, it's a comedy so people won't really mind if we do this." - I didn't, but that still doesn't justify having a lazily written script. There was only a few funny bits throughout, and they were mostly from Jonah Hill. A lot of the jokes were overused and very basic. I just didn't find it funny, a few of the jokes were also a bit of obvious. I also thought, with a storyline like that, it would stray away from the usual sex jokes which have plagiarized modern comedies. But no, they were still there and plentiful and as always unfunny.

However, the film moves along at a nice pace and has my interest throughout. I liked the fact that it has a twist on the usual alien clichés we have becomes used to. Jonah Hill, as always, delivers nearly every time he's on-screen and I have to say, Vince Vaughn was actually good too, and I don't usually like him that much. Richard Ayoade wasn't the best in it, and I think they should have gotten Seth Rogan or someone more capable to play the fourth-person. As I heard a lot of it was improvisation.

It isn't the best film, but does provide laughs, however rare and mildly amusing they are. I felt they could have done a lot more with the film but as I said, it felt extremely lazy, like they thought they would make money with that cast, so there's no point in putting much effort into it.

A poor 6/10 You're unlikely to laugh much, and you may get an unexpected case of the non-art-imitates-bad-life creeps. Yes, the movie was originally known as Neighborhood Watch, but the title was changed after the shooting of Trayvon Martin by a neighborhood watch captain in Florida.
